1 Introduction

1.1 Purpose

The purpose of this document is to outline the acceptable use of information and information systems, technology and software at NBCUniversal (“NBCUniversal Information Resources”). These systems are to be used for business purposes in the interest of the Company, our clients, and customers in the course of normal operations.

1.2 Scope

This Policy applies to all persons working in NBCUniversal including all third parties who access NBCUniversal networks, systems, and data.

1.3 What you need to do

You are required to comply with this policy. This policy is designed to protect you, your co-workers and the Company.

Although complete, this document is not intended to be comprehensive and there may be local data protection, security, or privacy laws which must also be followed. If any statement herein conflicts with local laws, those laws shall supersede this document. The Information Security department is available to offer guidance should there ever be any question regarding apparent conflicts.

Omission from this document does not necessarily constitute permission. If you have any questions regarding an area not covered, please contact your local HR manager or IT Security leader.

2 Disciplinary action

Violation of any portion of this policy may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment as per NBCUniversal HR Policy and relevant local law.

Violations of this policy by contractors may result in the Company requesting that the contractor’s employer remove the contractor from the NBCUniversal assignment or terminate the underlying contract.

3 Standard of conduct

3.1 Personal business ventures

Using Company resources to conduct personal business ventures or other actions inconsistent with this policy or in violation of the Company’s Conflict of Interest policy is prohibited.

3.2 Inappropriate use or content

You must not use NBCUniversal Information Resources to download, display or disseminate materials that may be considered by some people to be obscene, racist, sexist, threatening, or otherwise offensive

3.3 Other personal use

Limited non-business use which is not an abuse of Company time and/or resources and which does not violate the Comcast/NBCUniversal Code of Conduct or other NBCUniversal policies is permitted with manager approval (e.g., not abusive; not for personal gain or profit; not misusing work time; not in a manner that is unprofessional or unethical, or in any way obligates the Company or compromises its good name).

4 Monitoring and investigations

In order to ensure compliance with Company policies and standards, NBCUniversal reserves the right, consistent with applicable law, to monitor and review use of NBCUniversal Information Resources and to take appropriate action with respect to any violations.

Examples of what may be monitored and reviewed in investigations

- Emails sent, received and archived on your NBCUniversal provided devices or through NBCUniversal email facilities. (essentially any email on your PC, Blackberry or other mobile device.)
- Internet access including websites visited, archived content, and social network activities that are initiated from the NBCUniversal network or from NBCUniversal devices.
- Your NBCUniversal PC: All files on your PC as well as information such as login attempts, browsing history, etc.
- Your NBCUniversal Mobile devices: Use of the mobile device including call history and data services use.

5 Email

The email system and all messages (created, sent, received and stored) on the NBCUniversal system are the property of NBCUniversal. This policy is intended to protect both the sender and recipient of e-mail messages, as well as NBCUniversal, from the risks that accompany the use of e-mail.

5.1 Your NBCUniversal email

Your NBCUniversal email account must be used for all NBCUniversal-related business email.

At no time should you conduct Company business with a non-NBCUniversal e-mail account, even from home. If you need to access NBCUniversal e-mail remotely, a remote access (VPN) account can be requested through the Help Desk.

5.2 Personal email (webmail) access

Access to personal email web sites such as Yahoo! Mail, Hotmail or Gmail is permitted. Care should be taken when using these outside mail accounts, as e-mail viruses can spread from these systems, which do not always enforce the same security standards as the NBCUniversal e-mail system.

6 Internet

6.1 Internet Content Filtering

To protect NBCUniversal data and networks NBCUniversal blocks access to potentially objectionable or dangerous web sites using “website categorization” software. The availability or unavailability of a Web site does not reflect endorsement or censorship by NBCUniversal.

6.2 Blogs, forums and social media

Actions of NBCUniversal workers on the Internet are a reflection of the Company. If you choose to identify yourself as a Company employee on a web site forum or blog, please bear in mind that, although you and NBCUniversal may view such communication as a personal project and a medium of personal expression, some readers may view you as a spokesperson for the Company. Observe the following when hosting or adding comments to a blog, message board or other social media forum:

- Make it clear that the views expressed in the blog are yours alone and do not necessarily represent the views of your employer by including a prominent disclaimer/notice.
- Protect the Company's confidentiality and proprietary information.
- If uncertain, ask your manager about what is appropriate to include in blog postings.
- Be respectful of the Company, employees, customers, partners, and competitors.
- Ensure that your blogging activity does not interfere with your work commitments.
- Do not post any non-public NBCUniversal documents or excerpts from internal NBCUniversal communications.

Any blogging or posting that violates any Company Policy, even when done with personal resources, is prohibited.

7 Software

All NBCUniversal computers are delivered with standard, pre-installed software. Certain software components are critical to the secure operation of your computer. NBCUniversal workers must never attempt to disable, modify or uninstall security and management software.

We will occasionally deploy software to your desktop. Some software offers the option to delay installation to a more convenient time for the user. Although it is acceptable to delay the installation for as long as the system indicates, any attempt to permanently prevent the job from running is prohibited.

7.1 NBCUniversal Supported software

NBCUniversal supports software that we installed and strongly discourages the use of any software not explicitly reviewed and approved by IT.

7.2 Non-standard software

Any software you install is done at your own risk and must be in compliance with this policy and other NBCUniversal policies.

If non-standard software poses a security risk or conflicts with supported software, the Help Desk may remove the software. In such a case, NBCUniversal bears no responsibility for lost data.

If there is a software product that you wish to acquire for business reasons, contact the Help Desk to make arrangements for product evaluation and acquisition.

7.3 Prohibited Software

Certain classes of software may be blocked, removed from your PC or permanently disabled without prior notice, due to the risk they pose to your PC, NBCUniversal data and business operations.

7.4 Unlicensed Software or pirated materials

Installation of illegally obtained software on NBCUniversal equipment is strictly prohibited. “Software” includes programs, as well as multimedia files (MP3s, videos, stock photography, etc). Possession of illegally obtained material on NBCUniversal equipment is considered a serious violation of NBCUniversal Policy.

Furthermore, the presence of programs such as Peer to Peer file sharing utilities that facilitate the illegal sharing of content is expressly prohibited.

7.5 Personally owned software

Users are responsible for compliance with End User License Agreements (EULAs) of any personally owned or obtained software that is used for business purposes. This includes personally owned software installed on NBCUniversal provided or personally owned computing devices.

8 Laptops and other Mobile devices

As an NBCUniversal employee, you may be issued a laptop or portable computing device such as a Blackberry or other PDA. These computers, along with related equipment and software, are subject to all procedures included in these Guidelines for Acceptable Use. However, because of their portability, these machines create unique security and care issues.

8.1 Removable media

You are not permitted to store Company Confidential or Company Restricted data on unencrypted removable media. Removable media includes thumb drives, flash drives, zip drives, DVDs, CDs, external hard drives and all media that is easily transported. Approved encrypted media can be ordered through the Help Desk. To learn more about NBCUniversal data classifications please review the NBCUniversal Required Information Security Controls for Data Management

8.2 Permitted Use

You are the only person authorized to use your equipment and software issued to you. You are not permitted to access a co-worker’s computer, either physically or remotely via the network, without their express consent, or unless required in order to fulfill your job responsibilities (e.g., technician installing new software.)

8.3 Equipment Security

It is your responsibility to use caution when traveling with portable devices. Do not leave devices unattended in any public space. If any device issued to you is stolen or misplaced, you must contact the NBCUniversal Help Desk immediately. Failure to contact the Help Desk immediately may result in your being held responsible for the loss of NBCUniversal data.

8.4 Responsibility for Loss or Damage

You may be subject to disciplinary action for the loss of NBCUniversal equipment. You must always cooperate with NBCUniversal’s investigation in connection with such losses.

8.5 Return of Equipment and Software

When you leave the company or upon request, you must return any NBCUniversal-owned computer equipment, communication devices or software. The equipment and software should be returned in good working order with software and related accessories.

8.6 Disposal of Equipment and Media

Contact the Help Desk to dispose of unused, broken or unneeded Company-issued equipment or media.

9 Use of Non-NBCUniversal Computing Devices

9.1 Contingent Workers

Contingent workers may be provided with a NBCUniversal computer if a computer is necessary for their job function. Short-term and contingent workers (not onsite for more than one month at a time) may use equipment provided by their employers if anti-virus software is installed, and virus definitions are up to date.

9.2 Personally owned computers

If personally owned computers are used to connect to the NBCUniversal network, they must be running current security software. NBCUniversal may refuse connections from PCs that do not meet this standard.

9.3 Network Equipment

NBCUniversal workers must not install personal networking equipment on the NBCUniversal network. This includes wireless networking equipment, which presents significant security risks to NBCUniversal systems. Any non-NBCUniversal access points which are discovered will be disconnected immediately and confiscated.

9.4 Personally owned smartphones and mobile devices

Exempt employees may use approved personally owned smartphones or mobile devices to connect to the NBCU Email Collaboration suite for synchronization of calendar, mail and contacts.

Personally owned devices must comply with the requirements outlined in the Required Information Security Controls for Device Management, which includes items such as requiring a password and device screen saver, prior to connecting to the NBCUniversal network.

Users must agree to all applicable terms and conditions prior to connecting to approved NBCUniversal resources.

Users may only store approved Company data (email, contacts and calendar items) on personally owned devices.

10 Data protection

10.1 Clear workspace

NBCUniversal workers must maintain a workspace that is free and clear of sensitive data and are required to protect Restricted and Confidential information in digital and in physical format that is used or stored at their workspace.

10.2 Regulatory responsibility

Certain data may be regulated by national, state or local laws. NBCUniversal Required Information Security Controls for Data Management outlines requirements for handling and protecting regulated data. These controls provide a high global standard for data handling, and the requirements must be met even in countries with less strict or no relevant local laws. Where laws are stricter, the controls recognize the requirement to comply with those laws. The user is responsible for understanding all relevant policies/laws and adhering to them.

11 Incident Response

It is the responsibility of all NBCUniversal employees to report information security incidents, actual or suspected, by visiting the NBCUniversal Information Security Website, contacting the Help Desk or informing your Information Security Leader as soon as possible.

Security incidents, accidental or deliberate, can arise as a result of:

- Weak passwords (such as your own name, or a pet's name)
- Improperly protected Company Internal, Confidential, or Restricted data
- Theft or loss of unencrypted laptop computers and portable computing devices (such as thumb drives)
- Network, server, or application security vulnerabilities
- Physical security deficiencies
- Computer viruses and other malicious software
- Inadequate employee security awareness and training

12 Your NBCUniversal Digital Identity

Company-provided or business-related username/password combinations must never be shared, written down or otherwise left in plain sight.

You must not use your NBCUniversal username or password for non NBCUniversal accounts such as your bank account or other personal digital identities.

13 Exceptions

Exceptions to this policy must be logged at the NBCUniversal Information Security website and approved in accordance with the exception management process.
